Our brand story is the overarching narrative of what makes us uniquely Sparklight. It defines who we are and our approach to everything we do. It shouldn't be used verbatim, but everyone who encounters us should feel a sense of this story in every interaction, every touchpoint, and every product.

Our Brand Story

What is great internet? Is it strong? Is it fast? Is it reliable?

At Sparklight, we build connections that go beyond technology. Because no matter where you live, connection is what makes a house—a home.

We believe in Friday night football, Wednesday night Kiwanis, Thursday night bowling league, and everything in between. That the best cup of coffee in town is the one that brings us together—and most of all, that fast, reliable internet shouldn't cost an arm and a leg. And by investing in technology today, we're helping to build a stronger tomorrow.

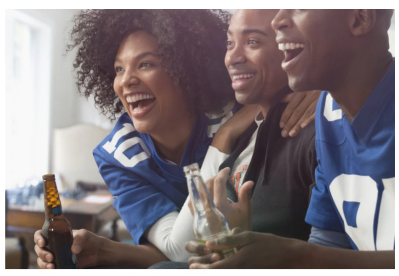

We believe in simplicity. That great internet at a great price from great people is just about as good as it gets. We believe in the relentless pursuit of reliability. That when we show up, we shine. Because being able to be counted on as neighbors isn't what we do—it's who we are.

We believe in being true partners for the businesses we serve because when they flourish, our towns flourish.

We're here to show America what great internet is made of, that when you care more—you build stronger connections.

So how do you know it's great internet? Because it works.

We're Sparklight, and we're always working for you.

‘Always working for you’ is an active posture of proactivity and poise. It’s a promise to our customers that means going the extra mile, always doing right by them, and with the hustle that will allow us to win over our competition. It contains a double-entendre that provides strength and fortification for the brand—and pays homage to the consumer need that internet is a utility that just has to work. Beyond that, it suggests that while invisible (because the seamlessness of internet is unseen), we’re always working behind the scenes to make our friends and neighbors’ internet experience better.

- ‘Always working for you’ possesses that credibility that keeps our focus on our customers.
- ‘Always working for you’ mirrors the American hometown values of hard work, community, loyalty and trust.
- ‘Always working for you’ is a promise that customers can latch on to whether it’s in our pricing, reliability, work behind the scenes, or within the communities we build; that what drives us is the people we serve.

We are proactive problem solvers who are also your friends and neighbors—deeply rooted in the communities we serve

Always working for you.

Originally crafted to become Sparklight's new tagline, "Always working for you" is more than a slogan. It represents our unwavering commitment to our customers and the communities we serve. Our customers are our families, friends, and neighbors, and this tagline signifies our promise to show up for them in a genuine, neighborly way.

The Essence of Our Commitment

"Always working for you" is our pledge—a steadfast commitment to being there for our customers whenever and however they need us. It acknowledges that Sparklight customers are not just an essential part of our business but an essential part of our lives, because we share space in the same communities they do. It's a commitment that goes beyond words; a vow to consistently deliver excellent service and support to everyone we serve, because they rely on us—and they rely on our internet to go about their daily lives.

Implementing the Tagline

So, where do we use "Always working for you" and how does it appear? The answer is simple: Everywhere we interact with our customers. This phrase should punctuate all customer communications. Typically, it appears as a lockup with the Sparklight logo, signifying our ongoing passion for providing the best internet service in America. However, its use is versatile and can extend to various forms of customer interaction.

For example, it may feature at the end of email communications, informing customers about network upgrades that increase their internet speeds. It can also appear as part of our conquest marketing efforts to attract prospective customers, showcasing our dedication and providing a compelling reason to switch to Sparklight. Whether in advertising, social media, point-of-sale materials, in-store signage, or any other customer touchpoint, "Always working for you" serves as a testament to our dedication.

Strategic Use and Limitations

While the tagline is versatile, it's crucial to use it judiciously. We must avoid placing "Always working for you" in contexts where it could be misinterpreted negatively or viewed in a cynical light by our customers. For instance, it should not appear on customer bills or invoice statements. Nor should it be included on price increase notifications or service termination notices. These are all examples of sensitive areas where the tagline might come across as insincere or sarcastic, and provoke a negative reaction.

Conclusion

"Always working for you" is Sparklight's promise to its customers. It is a constant reminder of our commitment to delivering excellent service and support, demonstrating that we are always there for them. By carefully considering where and how we use this tagline, we can ensure it reinforces our dedication and maintains the trust and loyalty of our customers — good judgment should always be used with its context. This tagline is not just a phrase; it is the embodiment of our mission to serve our customers with unwavering dedication and to always go "above and beyond".

Logo Lock-up - Clear space

Make sure our brand signature is clearly visible in all communications. Surround it with ample clear space. We define clear space as an area free of type, graphics, and other elements that might cause visual clutter.

Use the size of the letter “a” as the minimal clear space measurement.

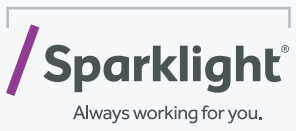

Note that the clear space specifications shown indicate the minimum area around the signature’s footprint. Use more space whenever possible to make our signature more prominent.

Logo Lock-up - Miminum Size

Screen 115px

Print 0.65 in

On occasion, our logo may have to appear at smaller sizes. To achieve the necessary impact and to ensure legibility, do not scale the logos below the recommended sizes in both print and digital applications.

Special printing and reproduction techniques, such as silkscreen printing, embossing, foil stamping, or embroidery, will require larger scale to reproduce correctly. Always review proofs from a vendor to ensure legibility.

Logo - Dont’s

DON’T add effects, such as drop shadows or bevels, to the wordmark.

DON’T skew or otherwise distort the wordmark.

DON’T add additional design elements to the logotype.

DON’T rearrange or resize the wordmark and symbol lockup

DON’T outline the wordmark.

DON’T place the logotype on a low contrast or busy background. On low contrast or dark backgrounds, always reverse the logo to white.

What is a Brand Voice?

It's the distinct personality we use to speak with its audience across all mediums. It has characteristics (such as intelligent, inquisitive, approachable, etc.) that influence word choices and phrasing across all communications. Similar to how a person may adjust their word choice to match a situation (without deviating outside of their core personality), the brand voice should have enough complimentary characteristics to create a harmonized voice that has the flexibility to adapt appropriately to the communication needs of the moment without feeling disjointed or disassociated from the core brand personality.

What is a Brand Tone?

Brand Tone is less about the characteristics of the words we choose and more about the inflection in which they are spoken or written. The tone of voice adds feeling and depth to our message. By adjusting the tone of voice, one message can have many possible inflections.

This guide helps align your brand so that communications are cohesive in both voice & tone across all communications - written and spoken.

At Sparklight, we embody a brand tone that is confident, earnest, and forward-thinking. We are a steadfast partner in the fast-evolving digital landscape, committed to providing not just services, but solutions that enrich lives and empower communities.

Most of all, our language is neighborly: one of assurance and reliability; we speak with the authority of experience and the humility of a community member who's been there since the beginning and will be there tomorrow.

We understand the importance of every connection, whether virtual or in-person, and the technology that anchors our customers and communities. Our role is not just as an internet provider but as a pivotal part of daily life and community growth.

Our communication is clear, direct, and purposeful, mirroring our mission to deliver internet services that are both essential and transformative.

We are pragmatic yet optimistic, recognizing the challenges of today while eagerly anticipating the possibilities of tomorrow. We don't use unrecognizable words and speak to our customers as people.

We shy away from complex offers that confound and instead, show America what great internet looks like by highlighting the people and purposefulness behind it.

Sparklight's brand tone reflects our dedication to progress and efficiency, ensuring that every interaction conveys our commitment to quality, trust, and community partnership. We are more than a company; we are a community ally, a technology leader, and a constant force working for the betterment of every customer we serve. Sparklight Logo

These guidelines are intended for everyone who has a role in creating Sparklight brand experiences. As brand stewards, we share a responsibility to cultivate and strengthen the Sparklight brand at every touchpoint, so it's essential that we unite behind a single set of principles, rules, and elements.

Logo lock-up

The Sparklight logo lock-up is our primary brand signature. It is comprised of two elements: a forward-leaning mark that references a forward slash found in web address urls to signal our shift from a traditional cable provider to a powerful ISP. Secondly, the mark represents a relay baton bringing the spirit of teamwork, collaboration, speed, and personal connection. Our logotype is drawn to complement the movement of our mark, and matching angles in the ("r," "g," and "t") move the eye seamlessly through the lock-up.

Our signature is refreshingly simple, which allows for a dynamic expression of our company within our walls and to our customers. The residential version of the logo is available in eight specific colors and should be used equally across all of our digital, print, and physical touchpoints and communications. Note the black and white logo versions should only be used when printing is limited to one color or for increased legibility.

Our logo lockups are designed to clearly and consistently represent Sparklight across its key business areas. Each division — Business, Carrier, and Advertising — uses a standardized lockup that pairs the Sparklight master brand with a descriptive sub-label, ensuring clarity while maintaining strong brand recognition. These lockups should be used in place of the standalone logo when referencing a specific line of business, and must always follow approved color, spacing, and contrast guidelines. Consistent use of these lockups reinforces brand unity while allowing each division to communicate its unique role within the Sparklight portfolio.

Logo lock-up - Clear space

Make sure our brand signature is clearly visible in all communications. Surround it with ample clear space.

We define clear space as an area free of type, graphics, and other elements that might cause visual clutter.

Use the size of the letter “a” as the minimal clear space measurement.

Note that the clear space specifications shown indicate the minimum area around the signature’s footprint. Use more space whenever possible to make our signature more prominent.

Logo lock-up - Miminum Size

Screen 115px

Print 0.65 in

On occasion, our logo may have to appear at smaller sizes. To achieve the necessary impact and to ensure legibility, do not scale the logos below the recommended sizes in both print and digital applications.

Special printing and reproduction techniques, such as silkscreen printing, embossing, foil stamping, or embroidery, will require larger scale to reproduce correctly. Always review proofs from a vendor to ensure legibility.

Logo Don’ts

DON’T add effects, such as drop shadows or bevels, to the wordmark.

DON’T skew or otherwise distort the wordmark.

DON’T add additional design elements to the logotype.

DON’T rearrange or resize the wordmark and symbol lockup

DON’T outline the wordmark.

DON’T place the logotype on a low contrast or busy background. On low contrast or dark backgrounds, always reverse the logo to white.

Dynamic Band

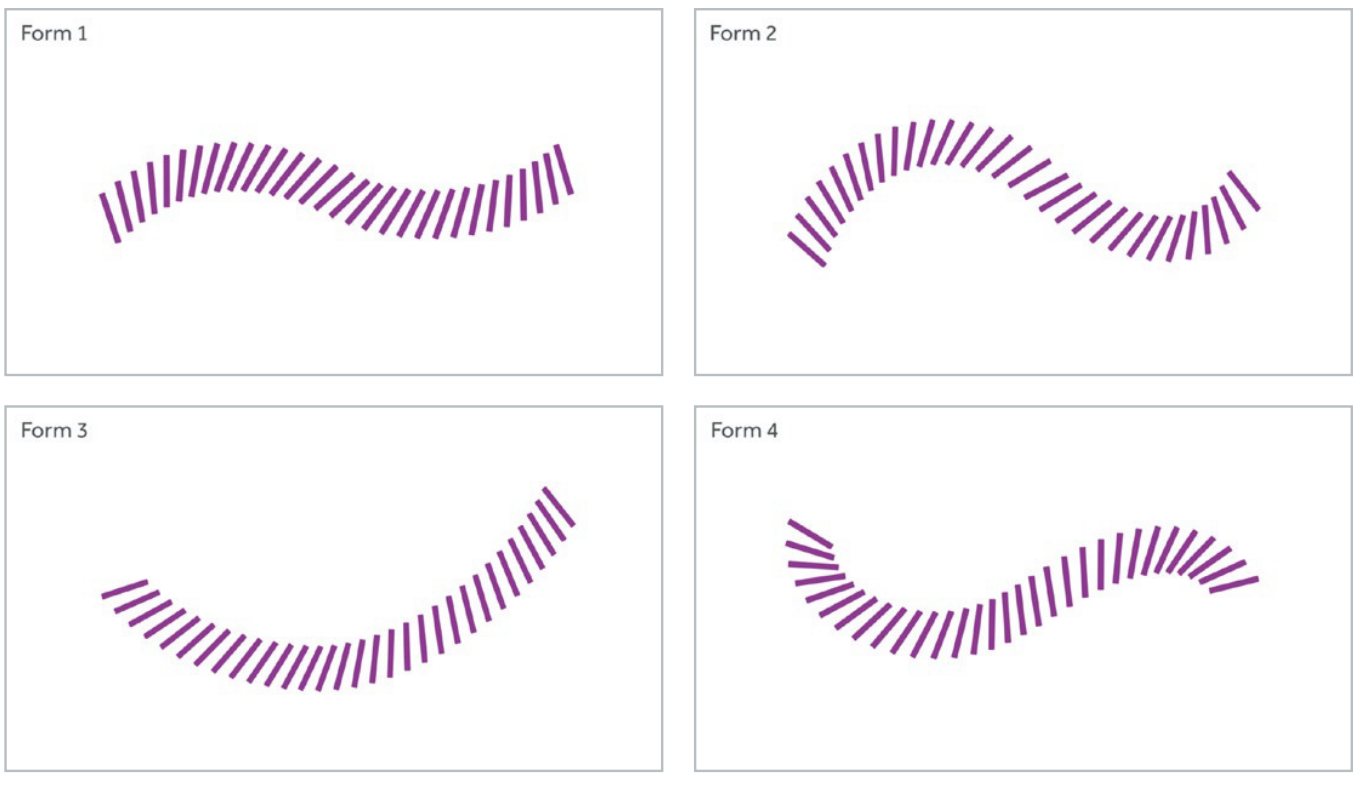

The proprietary Sparklight graphic element is built to emphasize a dynamic and vibrant experience and to tie in seamlessly with photography. Its uplifting shape conveys the ideas of speed, motion, and fast connections.

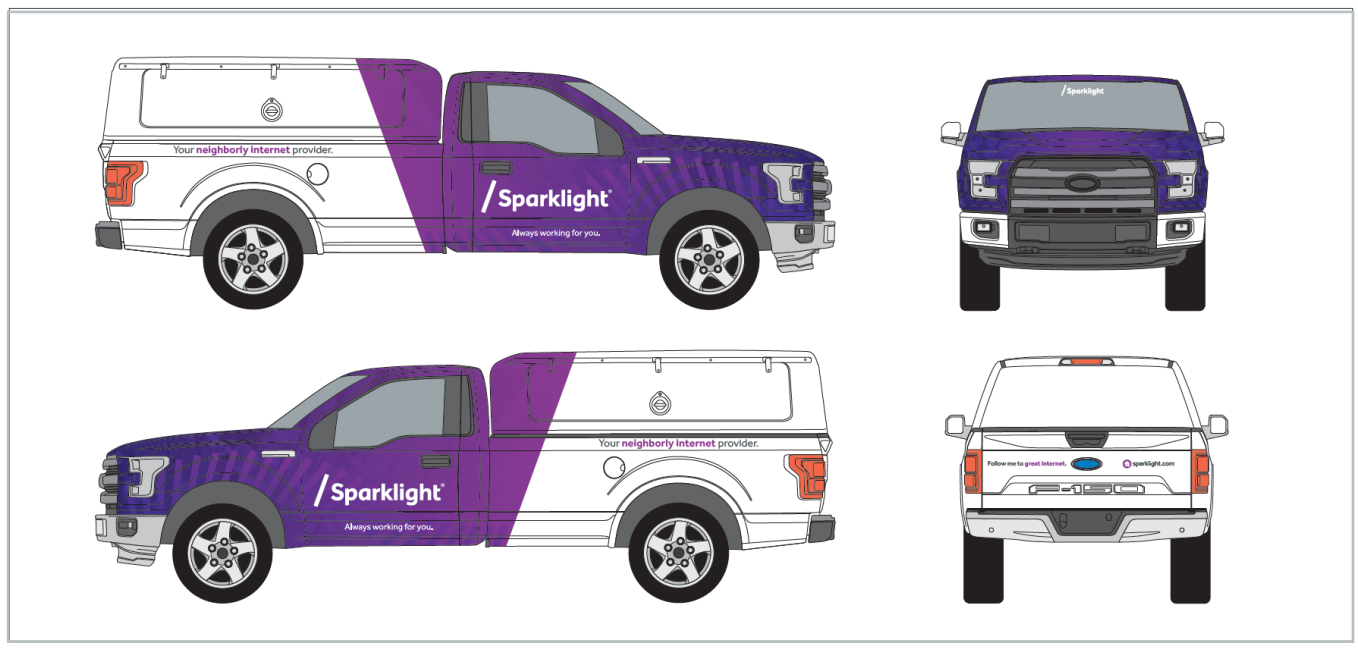

Originally, the graphic motif was conceived from the motion of the baton carried by relay runners.

The dynamic band should be used as a supporting, textural element. It should always be of secondary focus and should not be featured on its own or against a white background.

Photography Overview - Residential & Business

Residential Keywords: fun, candid, warm, optimistic, natural light, technology.

Residential photography is used on all materials targeted to our residential audience. This photography should capture the emotions of people undergoing a seamless internet experience.

Business Keywords: small business, mom & pop shop, naturally lit, candid, technology, open space.

Business photography is used on all our materials targeted to our business audience. It captures people working in their natural environment and managing their business with the help of techology.

When choosing or shooting photography, follow these simple principles:

- aim to evoke the feeling of being present and in the moment
- focus on people who are immersed in their experience
- have a natural source of light
- capture candid, natural moments

Photography should be used as a background element within our design system. Therefore, imagery should have ample breathing space and contrast for headlines and our logo. Using this imagery consistently can elevate our brand and set us apart from our competitors.
